Welcome Madar Building Materials.

About Madar

As the flagship company of the Al Fozan Holding, Madar is amongst the largest suppliers of building materials in Saudi Arabia. The company's core business involves wood, steel, aluminium and insulation material.

Established in 1969, Madar's main focus was to meet the ever-increasing demand for building materials in Saudi Arabia. Since inception, the company's founders insisted on quality and as a result the company soon acquired a solid reputation for its products.

The ability to adapt to changing customer needs and market demands enabled Madar to maintain its leading position. In 1995 the company...

Undertook an ambitious self-development program that reinforced its corporate standing.

Today Madar is a dynamic force in regional markets. ISO certified and guided by a strong corporate philosophy, Madar continues to enjoy one success after another. It enjoys a distinguished reputation with clients, suppliers.

Madar's most valuable assets today are the thousands of loyal and dedicated employees

Chairman Message

-Khaled Alfozan
Chairman

Madar was founded on three simple principles: operational excellence, quality products, and superior customer service. More than four decades later, we zealously uphold these principles. They are not only the cornerstones of our success, but are also our pathfinders into the future.

Since our inception in 1960, we have been witness to a radically changing business environment; domestically and globally. Madar has adapted to the changes and successfully evolved and diversified. Today, our corporate standing is a testament to this ability.

Throughout the years, we have allowed our business philosophy to mature, yet remain flexible. This approach has eased the integration and management of our diversification and evolution.

We believe innovation and decentralization give us our competitive edge. Madar has emerged as one of the leading groups in Saudi Arabia and the region by keeping a watchful eye on the business environment and constant process improvements.

Our corporate values center around our customers: honesty in all our relationships, integrity in financial commitments; uncompromising quality, and individual empowerment. These ideals define our reputation today.

As we look forward to a challenging and rewarding future, Madar stands committed to the philosophies and ideals that have brought us so far. As we expand and diversify, seeking new frontiers to explore and develop, we are confident that our values will guide us on the right path.

Madar's most valuable assets today are the thousands of loyal and dedicated employees who wear the Madar badge, and we ensure that they embrace our expansion.

In the years to come, Madar will continue to evolve, adapt, and thrive in an ever-changing world. Together, with our employees, customers, and partners, we are poised to write the next chapter of our success story, guided by our shared values and vision for the future.

For them it is a symbol of pride, for us it is an honor.
